Ivy

Time to take action!
See pg 2 and 3

Ivy

Why are we concerned about ivy growing on trees?

- We have surveyed trees in our suburb and found that many are being damaged by infestations of English ivy smothering their trunks and branches.
- As it climbs up tree trunks and over branches, ivy damages the bark and weakens the branches
- Ivy stems cling to the tree, preventing light from penetrating leaves.
- Weakened plants and trees are more susceptible to problems like pests or disease.
- This weed will eventually overtake even a mature tree. We have seen many smothered trees and shrubs dying or completely dead,
- Ivy is often planted as a hedge and ground cover- while careful gardeners often keep it contained, the seeds can spread it into neighbouring gardens
- English ivy is very invasive, it can spread easily into bushland and endanger whole ecosystems. On the ground, it forms a dense matting that excludes all native plants.

The Ivy Project

MCG is working with the Banyule Council to reduce the proliferation of English ivy in Montmorency, to prevent the destruction of our precious trees.

We have surveyed ivy infestations on trees on public land and the Council has begun to remove it.

But we are hoping that local residents will also help with this project, by removing any ivy from their land if it is growing up a tree trunk or covering vegetation

Throughout the month of June, you will see information about ivy as a weed in the local media

Food Swap

Thanks to everyone who joined in our world environment day activities, with our regular foodswap alongside the Monty traders, Monty boomerang bags, info on ivy Co trip to project our magnificent gums, and a human sized sugar glider.

Our next foodswap will be Sunday 7 July, from 10:30 to 11:30 am in the castle at monty primary school. Bring a favourite soup recipe and we can share them around too over a cuppa. And there will be a few boxes of jars available for all you marmalade and pickle makers.. someone we know is downsizing so there's plenty of

Tips for Removing English Ivy from Trees

1. It is best to always remove ivy if it is growing on your tree. Also remove ivy plants from the ground and nearby plants.
 2. If you want to keep ivy for ornamental purposes, keep it away from tree trunks, at least 3 to 4 feet, to prevent it from climbing up the tree.
 3. DO NOT simply rip the ivy off the tree. The roots will be firmly hooked into the bark so you will also remove some of the bark and damage the tree.
 4. Instead, starting at the base of the tree, cut an inch or two sections out of the ivy stems and remove them. Carefully paint the cuts on the still attached stem with a full strength herbicide.
 5. Repeat the process every few feet up the stem of the ivy as high as you can reach. You may need to repeat this a few times before you fully kill the ivy.
- Once the ivy has died, you can then safely take the stems off the tree.
- DO NOT use chemical sprays except as a last resort.

What happened at the election? What Now?

I think all of us were surprised by the election and many of us were disappointed. It was a major set back for environmental groups who had built all of their plans on electing a labour government and then influencing them to do more for the environment, especially with regards to Climate Change.

A month later we now recognise we must influence the Liberal government. This is a much harder task, but not impossible.

Extinction Rebellion is working towards mobilising people in acts of non violent civil disobedience. We start with a rally in the city at 5:30 on Friday (21st). For more information.

The international Extinction Rebellion is planning a day of mass disruption on Monday 7th October. If you want to be involved in the Melbourne actions, please contact me.

Alan Cuthbertson

This article is a reflection of my views. The Montmorency Community Group strongly supports action on Climate Change but does not necessarily support the actions of Extinction Rebellion.

Our last rally in June

Sustainable Watsonia is a transition town based at Watsonia Neighbourhood House. It provides opportunities for community to join together to build a more resilient and sustainable community. The neighbourhood house will host an open day on June 16th where Sustainable Watsonia will facilitate a repair café, discussions, presentations and skill share demonstrations. More details can be found on the website and facebook.

Where: 36 Turnham Ave, Rosanna.

When: Wed., 10 July 2019, 8:00 pm – 11:00 pm.

Delicious supper by donation available in interval .

Online booking is at eventbrite.com.au/e/62346611393
(or you can book and pay at the June MASSG meeting.)

(Collect seating tickets at the theatre from 7.30pm.)

All proceeds go towards providing essential items for people living in our community seeking asylum.

About the play

This is the tale of George Bailey - a man who'd given up his own dreams in order to help others. He plans to commit suicide on Christmas Eve but his guardian angel, Clarence Odbody, appears and intervenes. Clarence shows him all the lives he, George, has touched and how very different life in his Bedford Falls community would be if George had never been born. Inspired by the classic American film starring James Stewart, this production is performed 1940s live radio style with a studio audience. A fully immersive experience that will have you leaving the theatre full of love and joy.
